About the Festival:

City Theatre's annual Young Playwrights Contest encourages 7-12th grade western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia students to make their voices heard by writing and submitting original one-act plays.

The Young Playwrights Festival, in its 24th year, highlights three middle school and high school aged one-act plays. Student playwrights develop their scripts in collaboration with professional theater artists- a director, dramaturge, designers, and actors. Students from the region are invited to attend the 8 daytime performances and family and friends are encouraged to attend the weekend public performances, all held in our Lillie Theatre.
